

HOT CROSS BUN MUFFINS

Hot Cross Bun Muffins

These are a super delicious alternative to the usual hot cross buns. But they're not hot cross buns! If you absolutely love the taste of a hot cross bun as traditionally made and are able to eat them then I'd recommend you make the real deal or go out and treat yourself to some well-made bought ones. If on the other hand you're looking for something quick, easy and delicious that's a bit different (especially if like me you never liked the taste of the original buns) then try these out!!

They taste best when heated with a good serving of butter (but if you're dairy free they will be fine without). They are refined sugar free but they do have plenty of sugar in form of apple, maple syrup and dried fruit so definitely a "special occasional" as Chef Dom says :-).
